* The Belgian Financial Forum was set up in 1992 upon the initiative of key figures from the financial and academic world and with the explicit support of the National Bank of Belgium (NBB) and the (former) Belgian Banking Association (BBA).

The Forum pursues the following objectives:

- To exchange, in the broad sense, knowledge about economic and financial issues with a view to contributing to continuing education. To attain this objective, various different formats are proposed, like conferences, colloquia, panel debates, etc. The Forum's journals and digital publications also help to pursue its goals;
- to encourage debates and exchange of views on economic and financial themes;
- to provide a meeting place for the financial sector and related sectors, public authorities, academic circles and businesses.
